To "Put Screws" On Rum Runners

NEW YORK, May 2.—(By the Associated Press)—The government, entering a triangular attack on the rum trade, today issued a decree authorizing the seizure of a tug and motor launch carrying provisions and fuel to the alien craft anchored outside the three-mile limit.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(By the Associated Press)—While government officials continued to puzzle today over application of the supreme court decision on ship liquor, coast guard headquarters issued an order today concentrating all available coast guard boats in the north Atlantic along the New Jersey shore. It was said that henceforth the rum fleet must be under surveillance of two coast guard cutters day and night.

Conclusion of the winter patrol work makes available a dozen or more boats for cutting off shore contents of the rum fleet. It is the declared purpose of coast guard headquarters to "put the screws down" on customers of the rum ships and the office of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury in charge of the guard, is convinced the fleet can be driven out for lack of trade.

Woman And Man Hanged For Murder In Canada

FT. SASKATCHEWAN, ALBERTA, May 2.—(By the Associated Press)—Mrs. Florence Lassandra and Emilio Piccarillo were hanged today for the murder of Constable Lawson, last September.

Constable Lawson was slain at the Coleman provincial police headquarters after an unsuccessful attempt by police to capture Piccarillo and his son Steven with an auto load of liquor which they were alleged to have run through Crow's Nest Pass.

Piccarillo and Mrs. Lassandra, wife of one of his chauffeurs, appeared at the Coleman police station, called the constable out and after a few words Mrs. Lassandra shot him four times. Desperate efforts were made to save Mrs. Lassandra's life, protests against her execution being sent to the government by various organizations declaring the execution of a woman would place a stain on the good name of the province.

The cabinet council spent almost all of yesterday considering the appeals of clemency. Meanwhile plans for the executions were going forward and everything was in readiness for the hangings when Sir Lester Goult, minister of justice, announced late in the afternoon that the cabinet had decided Mrs. Lassandra must pay the full penalty.

Both protested their innocence on the gallows. Piccarillo paid the penalty first and forty-one minutes later Mrs. Lassandra was executed. She was the first woman to be hanged in Canada in twenty-four years.

Golf Champion Is Married

Mrs. Edna Strauss and Walter Hagen

Walter Hagen, professional golf champion, probably the greatest golfer in the United States, has been quietly married to Mrs. Edna Strauss, a wealthy society woman, of West End, New Jersey. The romance started on the links, when Hagen taught Mrs. Strauss the game at the Westchester-Biltmore Country Club, of Rye, New York.

Piggly Wiggly Head In Financial Distress

MEMPHIS, TENN., May 2.—(By the Associated Press)—Clarence Saunders, of Memphis, president of the Piggly-Wiggly Stores, Inc., and central figure in the sensational encounter with Wall Street, a few weeks ago, will say in advertisements today that unless "I am able to sell the stock which I have on hand as a consequence of the job I took for myself there is only one outcome, and that is my personal fortune will be wiped out."

Mr. Saunders will add, however, that if he loses his personal fortune the company will not be affected except "insofar as my being head of the company is concerned."

The advertisement is under the caption:

"Wall Street is right when it says that, unless I sell the Piggly-Wiggly Class A stock, I will go broke."

Mr. Saunders declares that the company is on a firmer basis than at any time in its history and "it is only because of certain bank opposition and other whispered propaganda that it is necessary to spend so much effort to sell this stock as otherwise it would have been taken on the first offering."

"Volunteers in this work," are called for by the advertisement which explains by saying:

"I don't ask for charity and I don't request any flowers for my financial funeral, but I do ask this and that is for everybody in Memphis to recognize and know that this is a serious statement made for the purpose of acquainting those who wish to assist in this matter that they may work with me and other friends and believers in my business in a Memphis campaign to have every man and woman who possibly can in this city to become one of the partners in the Piggly-Wiggly business because it is a good investment first and second, because it is the right thing to do for the good of Memphis and for the public generally."

The statement sets forth the terms of the stock offering, stressing the number of stores and volume of business. After starting with the declaration that "I did not make a single nickel out of all the trading on the stock exchange, other striking assertions are:

"I could have played the gambler's game with absolute certainty of winning, as I was the only one at all times who actually had knowledge in advance of just what the market price was going to be—whether up or down."

"Several millions of dollars have been made collectively by those whose interests I risked everything to protect—still I am not sorry that I did—neither have I any bitterness because many who saw a chance to make money for themselves at my expense did not hesitate to do it."

"Don't get confused—don't think because the writer may lose his fortune that this will affect the company, except insofar as my being the head of the company."

"The particular reason for this statement, which is unusual, is to answer the remark so often made:

Scotland Yard Chief In America

Sir William Harwood

London, May 2.—(By the Associated Press)—The new German reparations for a reparations settlement are so far from acceptable to France that a flat rejection of them is regarded by persons close to Premier Poincare as inevitable. This rejection, it is stated, will probably be followed by an extension of the occupation on the right bank of the Rhine.

The French authorities, found the offer as contained in the official text given out by the German government news agency to be in nearly every respect just as forecast in the reports received from Berlin last week and therefore entirely unsatisfactory from their viewpoint. It was made known in a semi-official source that Premier Poincare would refuse to take the new into consideration, regarding it as a mere propaganda.

Germany's last reparations proposal, submitted today, advances a proposal that security, as between France and Germany be attained by an agreement to submit any future conflicts to arbitration or other conciliatory processes.

The German government, says the note, is prepared, as was its intention in proposing the "conclusion" of a Rhine pact, to accept any agreement calculated to secure peace based on reciprocity.

The German government, it adds, is prepared to accept any agreement binding on both Germany and France to submit all conflicts which cannot be settled in the usual diplomatic way to some kind of peaceful international procedure, that is to say, jurisdictional conflict to arbitration and all other conflicts to a reconciliation process after the example of the Bryan agreements.

(These agreements are the series of arbitration treaties negotiated by Secretary of State Bryan during the Wilson administration with Great Britain and other foreign governments.)

Paris Says Offer Not Genuine

BRITAIN'S Disclaim Participation LONDON, May 2.—(By the Associated Press)—It was authoritatively stated here this afternoon that the British government has been at some pains to make clear to every party that Great Britain is in no way connected with the German reparations note and that she had no hand whatsoever in framing its terms, as had been suggested in certain quarters.

"Student Drowned During Hazing"

CHICAGO, May 2.—(By the Associated Press)—A complete list of freshmen and sophomores, who were attending Northwestern University at the time Leighton Mount, freshman, disappeared after an inter-class hazing in September, 1921, will be demanded at the inquest today over the skeleton found Monday night and identified as that of the missing youth, according to Oscar Wolf, coroner, who will be in personal charge.

The identification, first made by Mrs. J. L. Mount, Leighton's mother, from a belt buckle and bits of clothing found with the skeleton, was under a plea near the university along the Lake Michigan water front, was made positive last night when Dr. F. H. Iyer, the family dentist, recognized work he had done on young Mount's teeth.

That Mount was drowned as the result of a hazing episode and his body covered with some strong chemical and stuffed through a hole in the concrete pier where it was found by a twelve-year-old lad, is the opinion of coroner Wolf, Charles W. Leggett, chief of police of Evanston, and Dr. (Continued on Page Three)

Judges Will Decide Future Of 12 Year Old Girl

CHICAGO, May 2.—(By the Associated Press)—The future of Alice Beatrice Nuttal, pretty twelve-year-old girl, probably will be decided today by the two judges who have been hearing testimony to establish the facts of the mother and the father, who legally adopted her when she was less than a fortnight old. Only once during yesterday's session of the hearing, marked by quotations of Biblical passages and references to characters in fiction portraying mother, how did the Solomon-like judges indicate by a word or a nod what might be expected in their decision. Little Alice in court maintained a wide-eyed, but rather unemotional interest in the proceedings. When her mother, fainting, she turned to Mrs. James Nuttal, her foster mother, and asked "why did Mrs. Morris do that?" Mrs. Morris testified that while she was unconscious after Alice was born her relatives placed the infant in a nurse's home from which she was taken formally by Mr. and Mrs. Nuttal. Mrs. Morris said that for twelve years she has searched for the child, finally finding her through reference to Cook county (Chicago) adoption records. "Finally she tried to obtain information regarding Alice from relatives who declined to aid," she said.

No Trace Of Missing Boy

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., May 2.—(By the Associated Press)—Police seek a large black touring car containing two men and a boy, as the most definite clue to the whereabouts of Vermer Alexander, six-year-old son of E. F. W. Alexander, radio engineer, who was kidnapped from his home Monday.

The boy, led away from his home by a man who promised to give him some rabbits, is believed to have entered the automobile which then went north from the city and headed west across the state.

A garage proprietor at Northville, near Gloversville, said the man and boy stopped at the garage to replenish the car's gas supply, a farmer said he later saw a boy similar to Vermer walking along the road, but further trace of the boy, man and car has been lost.

Two men, it is known, appeared in several sections of the city selling electric apparatus which they said was as high in price that it would be available only to well-to-do householders. They inquired for the address of wealthy families and it is known were in several instances given the name and address of Mr. Alexander.

Mr. Alexander last night made an appeal by radio for the return of his boy, asking radio enthusiasts the country over to aid him in the search.

Attack Methods Of Teaching In Texas Methodist College

FORT WORTH, TEXAS, May 2.—(By the Associated Press)—Attacks against the teaching in the Methodist institution of higher learning in Texas, launched by Rev. W. E. Hawkins, Methodist evangelist, together with testimony of students to the effect that evolution is being taught in Texas women's colleges here, and in other Methodist institutions, marked the session of the fifth world conference on Christian fundamentals last night.

It was stated that those in authority within the Methodist church had threatened to excommunicate Rev. Hawkins if he went through with the program. That brought forth a statement from the convention that it would support him in the work of cleaning up the schools of his church.

Rev. Hawkins launched an attack against the teachings and in an attempt to establish his case of alleged heresy against schools in general, he called Miss Ruth Reed, a student of the Texas Women's College, to testify.

Miss Reed stated that her professor had told her that "the virgin birth of Jesus was not an essential belief to salvation."

The convention numbering approximately 6,000 persons, broke into an uproar when Miss Reed read a passage from her note book alleged to have been dictated by a professor in one of her classes to the effect that "in many hospital nurseries you can find little human animals with tails that later were absorbed and became the complete backbone of man."

Why Britain Is Wet

Lloyd George in next Sunday's Sun and Times explains the hesitancy of Great Britain to tread America's path. Temperance reformers in Britain are watching the progress of America's bold bid for sobriety with hopeful, if anxious, eyes and with longing for success or failure of what America is doing now. Next Sunday's article deals with the liquor question in characteristic Lloyd Georgean style, so don't miss it.

Big Circus Pitches Tents Here Friday

It is only a short time now until the circus will be here—the Carl Hagenbeck-Wallace, the premier wild animal show of the world, which will arrive early in the morning on Friday, May 4, for exhibition that afternoon and evening on the circus grounds at Seventeenth and Chillicothe streets. And, of course, the big street parade will take place as scheduled at 11 a. m.

The younger members of the family are sure to be up early on Circus Day and hurrying to the railroad yards to witness the unloading wonders and marvel at the manner in which the noted Hagenbeck elephants, camels and horses step from the double-length railroad cars. Then the roar of the lions and tigers, as well as the other "cat" animals, from their cages behind big canvas coverings, are sure to strike awe and respect among the kiddies.

Introduction of circus day is officially scheduled for 11 a. m., when the mile long street parade leaves the circus grounds and starts its procession over the principal streets of the city. And the parade is sure to convey an idea of what the performance is to be like.

New and novel features have been assembled by the management for the 1923 transcontinental tour, but as usual, the trained wild animal acts are featured. Two groups of lions and tigers, eleven each, will be worked in the steel arena, while other unusual stunts, such as a tiger riding on an elephant's back, and lions and bears riding horseback, will also be shown. Months were spent by the trainers in perfecting these acts for popular consumption this summer, and they are said to be the acme in animal training. In addition the equestrians, the bare-back riders, the acrobats, the tub-kickers, the acrobats, the perch artists, and the clown will work toward one object, making the Hagenbeck-Wallace performance superior to that offered by any other circus.

Times readers who read yesterday's accounts of the American Legion's battle with World War veterans who are non-members will be interested to learn more details of the drive. Commander Harold Clayton reports that telephonic connections have been made with his advance "troops," who report that they have taken trench after trench and position after position. The operations recall those of the World War, being similar to such drives as the St. Mihiel and Argonne offensives, although it must be borne in mind that the methods of warfare have changed greatly since those days, thus making the World War operations seem pigmy-like in comparison with the present "battle" or organized forces against the unorganized.

The zeal and determination of the Legionnaires surpasses anything ever seen before and many hand-to-hand combats are related. The Legionnaire usually coming out on top and "getting" their man or badly "crippling" him so he may be easily captured by another "ave" of troops.

"Gas" is playing a tremendous part in the offensive operations, and it seems that the enemy is also employing it in their defense. The Legion men are proving superior at that "game," and are simply "outgassing" the non-members, thus stifling them into easy capture.

Commander Clayton expects the offensive to reach a climax Thursday night at 7:30, by which time he says his forces will have completely surrounded the enemy and will close in on them to bring them up to the American Legion headquarters, Gay and Seventh streets, where the "prisoners" will be counted and dealt with in proper "military" manner.

Commander Clayton has outlined several reasons why World War veterans should join the Legion and the paramount of these are:

- No. 1. Veterans should be organized. In unity there is strength.
- No. 2. The American Legion is the one big all-embracing association of veterans.
- No. 3. It is continually fighting for the good of the ex-service men, and has secured increased compensation for the disabled and better hospital care for the sick.
- No. 4. It is continually urging a Federal Adjusted Compensation Law.
- No. 5. It publishes a weekly magazine given free to its members. It is full of stories, jokes and cartoons, all reminiscent of war days, and is in itself worth the yearly dues.
- No. 6. The local Post has many times helped the "down and out" buddy.
- No. 7. The local Post is splendidly equipped with a spacious meeting hall and club rooms containing easy chairs, victrola, books and games, facilities equal to any in the city.
- No. 8. Last of all, the Legion needs you.

Germany

total be raised before July 1, 1927, by a bond issue at normal rates of interest on the international money market. Five billions would be raised before July 1, 1929, in the same manner and the remaining sum similarly before July 1, 1931.

The note asserts that Germany, in accordance with existing treaties, will also make payments in kind which are to be credited to her account. The note expresses the government's conviction that the new proposals represent the utmost limit of Germany's capacity to pay, and expresses grave doubt as to whether the offer does not exceed her ability in view of the heavy dislocation and weakening of the reich's economic organization caused by the Ruhr occupation.

In case the creditor governments do not share Germany's belief that no unprejudiced party could arrive at a higher estimate in view of her general condition, the Berlin government proposes that the whole reparations question be left to the decision of an international commission free from every political influence, as suggested by Secretary Hughes.

The German government sets forth that an international loan syndicate and the reparations commission shall determine the manner in which the nation's possessions and sources of revenue which have already been pledged under the treaty, can be given concrete form and what guarantees are to be provided in each particular case.

The government is also prepared, in accordance with terms of agreements to be made to adopt all proper and necessary legislative measures to insure the co-operation of the reich's industrial, commercial and financial forces in vouchsafing security and guarantees.

Payments in kind are to be guaranteed by long term private contracts, breach or violation of which would make offenders subject to fines.

The note proposes that the first twenty billion marks of the total of the thirty billion marks be offered to subscription at once. Interest on the bonds up to July 1, 1927, would be taken out of the loans themselves and would be paid into a special fund under control of the reparations commission. If twenty billion marks cannot be raised by means of a loan before July 1, 1927, interest of five percent would be paid on that sum from said date. In addition to one percent for amortization.

The note asserts that Germany is making her offer without desisting from her program of passive resistance which will be continued until the areas occupied are evacuated and until conditions of the Rhine are restored, according to terms laid down in the Rhineland agreement.

Smile, Please!

The photographer wants to get a cheerful, happy picture of your face. He asks for a genial smile, easy expression. But your stomach says "No!" And when the proofs come from the studio you throw them into the basket. They are worthless as photographs, but they are important warning to sensible men and women.

If your stomach cannot digest food without causing distress from acidity and all its signs, then it is time to treat the stomach. But be sure to give it the right treatment.

A tested prescription, carefully compounded is ready for you in M-O-Na Tablets, the convenient treatment which brings about wonderful results.

They counteract acidity as surely as a chemist neutralizes an acid in his laboratory. By helping to correct this condition, they contribute the habit of good digestion.

sician, and Dr. Joseph Springer, coronor's physician.

They were in agreement after a thorough examination of the skeleton and a check of evidence preliminary to the inquest today.

Doctors Tyson and Springer pointed to the well-preserved and bleached condition of the bones as evidence that some strong outside chemical influence was called into play by those who hid the body. That drowning and not violence caused death was deduced when careful examination of the skull failed to disclose a fracture. None of the other bones was broken.

At her home from which she has for twenty months directed a nationwide search for young Mount, Mrs. Mount sobs for the loss of her son, but is happy in that her faith in him has been vindicated.

"It was not enough to fear that God had taken away my boy's life," she said, "but then to have gossip, unfounded and malicious, try to take away his soul—I thought at times I could not stand it. I was almost assumed to face any one in Evans-ton."

Three days after Mount's disappearance, university and police officers called off the hunt. A week later a story was circulated that "the Mounts really knew where he was."

From time to time since rumors of Leighton's appearance, and as sudden disappearance at widely separated places have been broadcast.

"I have always said that if I could only hear definitely that Leighton was really dead, I'd be happier than worrying every night that he was out of his mind, wandering around hurt, in need, without me," said Mrs. Mount.

Her eyes clouded as she added: "If only the university had helped in the search when Leighton disappeared, perhaps by now I would not have the dull sorrow that twenty months of obedience to God's will brings."

Grocers Enjoy Banquet; Hear Fine Talk

Close to 200 members of the Portsmouth Association of Retail Grocers and their wives were present last night when the second annual banquet of the Association was held in the dining room of the United Brethren church; the affair this year being voted a big success by those present.

The main address of the evening was given by the president of the Ohio Retail Grocers' Association, John C. Seibel of Dayton, who had for the subject of his address, "Benefits Arising From Organization."

Mr. Seibel who proved an interesting and entertaining speaker, stated that the efforts being made to organize the retail grocers were not being taken so much to increase the individual profit of the grocer from a financial standpoint, but to educate him in the methods of serving the public efficiently.

He said that the grocer should "strive to care for the interests of his customers, for it is he who contributes to the grocer's success." The financial interests of the grocer himself should be considered last," he said.

Mr. Seibel arrived in the city yesterday afternoon and was taken on an automobile tour of Portsmouth yesterday afternoon. He was well pleased with the city, remarking that it was one of the busiest and liveliest in which he had been for some time. He was particularly impressed with the large number of thriving industries and the prevailing spirit of co-operation, he said.

I. E. Thompson proved a most capable toastmaster at the banquet and the toasts made by the various members of the association were well received. The invocation was given by Walter Bagby.

The banquet was served by the ladies of the United Brethren Church. The menu included roast beef, mashed potatoes, brown gravy, baked corn, slaw, Parker House rolls, butter, coffee, ice cream, home-made cake, pickles and catsup.

Music during the evening was furnished by the U. B. Orchestra, under the management of Fred Reinhardt, and direction of Joseph Mastropaulo. The personnel of the orchestra follows: Harold Thompson, piano; Cecil Finney, cornet; James Beaver, saxophone; W. Durrach, saxophone; A. D. White, tuba; H. L. Kibler, drums; Ruth Haney, violin, and Sue Corley, saxophone.

Straighten Out Liquor Snarl

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(By the Associated Press)—Government officials continued today to feel their way toward a satisfactory adjustment of the difficulties faced in applying the supreme court's interpretation of the dry laws as prohibiting the carrying of liquor by any ship within the three-mile zone of United States territorial waters.

For the department of justice meanwhile, Attorney General Daugherty has announced that the supreme court mandate becoming effective within thirty days from the handing down of the decision Monday will be enforced "vigorously". In this statement last night Mr. Daugherty declared that "every agency at my command will be used to enforce the law without favor, partiality or discrimination."

Not only has the court's decision definitely established that no intoxicating liquor can be brought within three miles of the nation's shores, Mr. Daugherty said, but its interpretation of the terms "transportation" and "importation" will make for more rigid enforcement generally of the prohibition and customs laws.

As to the government's policy regarding liquor served on shipping board vessels on the basis of indications given by Chairman Lasker after conferring with President Harding yesterday it appeared probable that the government fleet would remain

dry. Secretary Mellon also had under preparation at the treasury a statement which will lay down the principles of which supreme court's decision against the bringing of liquor within the three-mile limit will be applied to shipping at American ports.

NO TRACE OF LINCOLN
AURORA, ILL., May 2.—(By the Associated Press)—Search for Warren J. Lincoln, former attorney and prominent nurseryman, whose absence was discovered Monday, continues with the authorities working on two theories, slaying and kidnapping, but without definite clues. Unsuccessful in a search over fifty miles of territory, W. E. Orr, sheriff of Kane county, made preparations to drag the Fox river for the body. He declared it possible that Lincoln was slain and his body thrown into the river. Mrs. Lina Lincoln and Byron Shoup, her brother, are being sought. Both disappeared recently after Lincoln's say, after they had beaten Lincoln after a quarrel. Lincoln recently filed the principle in a $10,000 damage suit against Shoup, presumably in connection with the treatment received during the fight. The sheriff also is seeking a taxi cab driver, said by neighbors of Lincoln to have been seen near the Lincoln bungalow early Monday with his machine occupied by a woman and two men. Stains found in the bungalow on an Indian club, and on Mr. Lincoln's night shirt after it was fished from an irrigation well near his home, were analyzed as made by blood after the carcasses of four chickens, with their throats cut, had been found in a pen near the bungalow.

"Your Complexion Is Just What You Make It" Says Rubinstein

By MRS. HELENE RUBINSTEIN
International Beauty Expert
(Copyright, 1923, NEA Service, Inc.)

The shape of your nose or the size of your eyes are matters beyond your control, but your complexion is what you make it.

You can bring it to the point of loveliness where it suggests richness or you can allow it to deteriorate until it seems to have taken the swiss cheese for its model.

In windy countries such as Australia or New Zealand, I have seen girls of 16 more wrinkled than a woman of 60 should be, and in Paris I have seen grandmothers with ravishing skins.

As you know, the skin is composed of layers of cells with little blood vessels, nerves and glands whose ducts lead to the surface and culminate in pores.

Every cell should contain a certain amount of moisture as this is the natural skin food with which the tissues are kept soft and supple. If anything internal or external interferes with this moisture the skin is robbed of its nourishment and dryness ensues and lines follow.

A dry skin is caused by impoverished blood, nervousness or "sometimes" by climatic conditions.

For a dry skin, I suggest the following treatment each night: First cleanse the skin thoroughly with cold cream. Leave this on for a few moments so it may soften the surface and draw from the pores any impurities they may harbor. Then when you have removed the cream, press in a mild skin stimulant with the fingers or with warm compresses. Then pat in and massage with a rich skin food, using sweeping movements covering both face and throat.

I do not approve of water for the dry skin or do I advocate using nothing but cream for cleansing. My reason is that the dry skin is always irritable and unless some cooling liquid is used it will become overheated and develop a tendency to blotchiness.

The ideal method of cleansing the tender skin is to use a cream night and morning and at all other times a non-drying but slightly astringent tonic. This tones the tissues which might be inclined to flabbiness and helps you preserve your contour and maintain the firmness as well as the freshness of your face.

Black Delivers
The following from the Tulsa Tribune of Tulsa, Okla., gives local diamond fans an idea of what the sport lovers of Tulsa think of Lefty Black, former Ironton twister. Black took the box in a game with Sioux City and pulled his team through to victory.

To Carl Black, who pitched the kind of ball that dazed Mobile last fall, goes no small need for credit. Supplanting Sherman in the fourth with one down, he did not allow another 800 runner to reach base. He retired the 11 men without a ripple of trouble, and but three puny flies were raised to the outfield.—Irontonian.

FINAL COUNT GIVES MEN VICTORY

At a meeting Tuesday evening of some of the officers and members of Trinity Men's Bible class, a recount was made of the attendance records made by both sides in the April contest at Trinity Sunday school between Mrs. Will McCurdy's, Mrs. J. P. Smith's and Mrs. C. N. Smith's classes on one side and the Men's class on the other, and the results show the men won by a wide margin. The results, until this final official count was made, showed the contest to be very close but the men were awarded the palm when it was learned that during the month a total of seventy-six babies and children and grand-children had been counted by the women who figured that it was necessary for mothers to bring their little ones in order to come themselves. Quite a bit of laughter was in evidence when one of the men's sons reported that a certain grandmother in one of the women's classes took her two grand-sons in her class to count, holding both boys on her lap and they were so large their feet dragged the floor. The witness insisted that the boys were so large that the Young Men's class felt pained because they did not attend their class. Reports were current too that the women called the janitor into their class room each session to raise or lower the windows so that he would count.

After going over their own count time and time again, working late into the night to find a possible error the men could only find a possible two that might be questioned and these were the two women who visited them from the women's class last Sunday to protest against the chivalry of the men owing to their appointments being women, and who became so interested in the class session that the men thought they were justified in counting them. But as one man said, those same women had gone in and out of their own class so often, being counted each time that it was really a shame to count them again. With this question finally settled the women will no doubt show their sportsmanship and come across with the banquet which the losers were to furnish the winners.

FALLS OUT OF WINDOW

SPRINGFIELD, O., May 2.—(By the Associated Press)—Mrs. C. E. Lynda Speagh, 60, widow of the late Dr. C. D. Speagh, of Dayton, was killed this morning when she fell out of a second story window at the home of her sister, Mrs. J. M. Smith, in this city. Mrs. Speagh had been in ill health for the last several months, and it had been her habit to sit frequently in the window of her room. Coroner Theo. Schaeffer, who investigated the tragedy, gave it as his opinion that she fell from the window.

WHAT'S RIGHT WE DO

Liquor

Consistent authorities on law, however, say that foreign governments will be well within their rights in deliberately ignoring the Supreme Court decision as well as any attempts on the part of American officials to enforce the prohibition laws within the three mile limit. The foreign governments admit that they can be prevented from serving liquor or using it in any form while their ships are tied up to an American dock—all this comes within the category of conduct or behavior in a foreign port—but can the Municipal law of a country be held to apply to articles in the possession of a foreign crew or passengers which are kept on board a vessel under seal? That's the real question.

The original theory of the three-mile limit and the general acceptance of this municipal law of each country as governing the crews of vessels in port was based on the idea of protecting a country against invasion and protecting individuals on shore from acts of violence or other crimes committed by visiting crews. The entire matter of municipal law related to a rule of conduct. It never has been made to apply to possession of property that is not taken from a vessel or used while inside the three mile limit. For instance, a ship from France or any other country can rob at New York with a cargo of goods and as long as none of it is unloaded no import duties are paid because it is understood the shipment is intended for some other destination, possibly the West Indies or South America. To accept the Supreme Court's ruling might mean that the American government might feel empowered some day to levy a tax on the property contents of vessels or perhaps to forbid the use of its ports to ships carrying goods to other countries in time of peace.

The laws of contraband during war makes it possible to suspend all these rules but International lawyers said today that they could not recall a single instance in which municipal or domestic law in time of peace applied to property rights. They also pointed out that the United States government had never passed laws applying to individuals except as to behavior. Thus an alien can come within the three mile limit and even go ashore without examination by the immigration authorities to see whether he meets American requirements. Indeed, many members of crews have come to American shores and stayed in America without detention simply because the American government has hesitated to apply its immigration laws to foreign crews. There are laws relating to opium traffic and drugs. No searches have as a rule been made on board foreign vessels touching American shores though crews have been searched at McMahon of Ninth Street, this city, was solemnized with the nuptial mass in the beautiful Sacred Heart Church in Dayton with the Rev. Father Charles Hickey, officiating in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends of the principals.

The attendants were Miss Agnes Maloney and Mr. George L. McMahon, brother of the groom.

The bride, who is a charming young woman of lovely personality, wore her traveling costume of sand colored point tulle, handsomely embroidered in blue, with corresponding accessories, and complete with a corsage of orchids and brides roses. Her maid of honor, Miss Maloney, was attired in a frock of brown crepe, with accessories to match and a corsage of roses.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 21—THE TIN GENERAL CAPTURED

"You are our prisoner, General Hobbledeloch," they cried.

PRIVATE BUTTONS was very happy.

He had always wanted to be a general and now he was one.

He was a general in the wooden army in Bing-Bang Land, because the Twins had made a mistake when he was getting needed in the hospital after a battle.

They had pointed General Gold Braid's star on Private Buttons' shoulder, and hadn't put anything on the general's shoulder.

The wooden army never knew the difference because they both looked alike, and saluted Private Buttons and stood around and waited for orders as though he had been a general all his life.

"Now then," smiled Private Buttons to himself. "We've been dilly dallying long enough and I for one am tired of fighting. I'm going to do something big."

So he called the officers around him and told them to get ready for battle.

At that very minute General Hobbledeloch of the tin army was pinning medals on Nancy and Nick, and boasting that he would win the war.

Suddenly bang, bang, bang, bang! Bang! bang, bang! went a hundred guns outside. "Everybody jump!" The door was flung open and in rushed a dozen wooden soldiers.

"You are our prisoner, General Hobbledeloch," they cried. "Hurrah for Nancy and Nick!"

Isn't that the way, my dears? When we are boasting the most usually the very time we should be most careful.

JACK DAW'S ADVENTURES IN THE LAND OF MINEY MOE

And, sure enough, as Jack was carried out of Elephant Palace, he saw Enny Meeny standing on the ground, patting Flip. The big elephant, on which Jack was riding, stooped down and let the little adventurer slip to the ground. Then he turned and dived back into the great palace.

BY ELTON

"And now," said Enny Meeny, "where would you like to go next? But before Jack could answer a big black cat with a long tail was scampering by them, with Flip in pursuit. 'Oh, my,' shouted Enny Meeny, 'that cat is Spook. We mustn't let Flip hurt him!' And he started after the dog. (Continued.)

MR. HARLEY EGGLESTON, COLUMBUS, OHIO.
Tells of His Experiences With Ka-di-ak.

Mr. Harley Eggleston, a well-known Columbus man, an employee of the old Hartman Hotel for several years, and now employed by the state as watchman and caretaker of the property, since it was taken over by the Industrial Commission, is another grateful user of Ka-di-ak. He says: "My health has always been fairly good, but for the past few months I did not feel quite right. My nerves were all on edge; I had scarcely any appetite at all, and was very restless at night and failed to sleep when I went to bed. I felt weak and worn-out. I realized I needed a tonic and nerve remedy to strengthen my nerves and build up my system. Ka-di-ak had been highly recommended to me and I started taking it. I am pleased to state that it has helped me a great deal. I have overcome my nervous trouble, sleep well and have a good appetite. I feel perfectly fit and well now and am glad to tell what I know about it. Ka-di-ak is a real good tonic and nerve medicine."

Ka-di-ak can be obtained in Portsmouth at Fisher & Streich's Drug Store.—Advertisement.

BASEBALL PLAYERS

Limbering Up Now With Joint-Boys

After the game of practice Joint-Boys take the kids, in a way, and so on. It is a game of practice, and it is a game of practice. It is a game of practice, and it is a game of practice.

The destruction of the dam caused Kent no regret. For all of his talk, Tuscarora was a lawless old soul. Dynamic had accomplished more in a second than all of his weeks of patient work. Acklin had got what he richly deserved. He might run, and his legal benchesmen tear their hair, but the dam was gone.

Some one would pay dearly for destroying it, if he were caught. Catching him was something else again. Thus in spirit quite accepting the accomplished fact, he had ridden to Buena Vista.

The note on the door had caught his attention immediately. It told him very little. If Basilio was at Bodine's place, where were Mercedes and Esteban?

Land's a friend of mine. I know him as well as I know the back of my hand. He won't waste any time getting up here from Winesburg.

"Well, you get him as quick as that old dog of yours will let you. I'll be waiting for him at the door. He's going to be here in a few minutes. He's going to be here in a few minutes. He's going to be here in a few minutes."

He was searching the rooms above when he heard some one side up. "Hello, there," he called. "Who are you?"

Kent did not turn for a backward glance. Like a shadow he was gone into the night galloping.

They came directly to the place where the road forked. Blaze was ahead. He drew up until Kent was beside him.

How To Beautify Your Home

Beating Hearts Are Better Than Granite Monuments

From the time of King Tut and the other Pharaohs to the present day, men have been building pyramids and tombs, erecting tablets and headstones, to tell that they are dead, but the man or woman who helps endow a university leaves a memorial that lives as long as the institution stands.

Your happiness and satisfaction will be increased ten-fold if you will invest in a corner stone, instead of a tombstone. The monuments in the cemeteries of Ohio cost more than enough to generously endow all the universities in the State. A University Chair, a Scholarship, a Building, or part of a building, will be an imperishable living monument to yourself and your family.

The Best Way to Build Yourself A Living Monument

If none of us like to be forgotten, wouldn't we be more pleased to have our friends say of us after we are gone: "There lives John Smith," rather than, "Here lies John Smith?"

An investment in the $8,000,000 Ohio Wesleyan Development Program is an investment for Scholarship, for Truth, for Broad Culture, for human Progress, for World Betterment, for the Kingdom of God in America and to the ends of the Earth.

This Program offers an excellent opportunity for you to invest your dollars in Wesleyan deeds and thereby build yourself a living monument, that shall endure while the World stands.

What the $8,000,000 Program Will Accomplish

- 1- Provide Endowment Fund to permit necessary addition to the teaching force and the payment of a living wage to the faculty, Scholarships for needy students, Retirement pensions for professors, Library maintenance, etc.
- 2- Construction of 16 new buildings necessary to care for a constantly increasing student body.
- 3- Campus extension and improvements necessary.
- 4- Necessary new apparatus and equipment for instruction and research.

You will find the interesting story of Ohio Wesleyan and her needs in new book entitled: "BUILD YOURSELF A LIVING MONUMENT."

Market News

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, May 2—Prices displayed a firmer tone at the opening of today's stock market. Short covering operations combined with some investment buying resulted in some trading. Studebaker, Dupont, and American Can selling at least a point above yesterday's final figures in the first few minutes. Independent steel, oil and other shares also made good progress. There were a few heavy spots, notably Brooklyn Edison, Willamette, and Dry Goods. The market was of a curious nature, small traders apparently being disturbed at the ability of bear operators to uncover weak spots and the possibility of stock bought by large interests for supporting purposes would be thrown back into the market later. Trading became dull on the rally. Short interests immediately increased their offerings and the general list sagged again around noon. Bids were dropped a point and Independent Oil of New Jersey equalled its low price of the year. Another cut in mid-continent crude oil and cable dispatches forecasting French governmental rejection of the latest Berlin reparations offer contributed to the bearish sentiment. Fisher Body slumped six points and Virginia Iron, Coal and Coke five points. Call money opened at 5 1/2 per cent.

Confused price movements took place in today's irregular stock market, with the closing quotations of the active issues irregularly higher. Another cut in mid-continent crude oil and Paris dispatches forecasting French rejection of the latest German reparations offer resulted in some selling pressure but this was counteracted by lower call money rates. The closing was irregular. Sales approximated 1,000,000 shares.

Chicago Grain And Provisions

CHICAGO, May 2—Although deliveries today on more than 1,000,000 bushels of wheat on May contracts had a bearish effect on wheat at the opening, the market soon showed signs of recovery and the seed average of spring wheat would be the smallest since 1900 gave a stimulus to buyers and proved sufficient to lift values. The reduction in acreage as compared with last year was figured at 12 per cent. Opening prices which ranged from the same as yesterday's finish to 3/4 cent lower with May 1.20@1.20 1/2 and July 1.19 1/2 to 1.20 1/2 were followed by a moderate general setback and then by a material upturn.

Corn and oats weakened with wheat but failed to recover so well. After the opening unchanged to 1/4 lower July 8 1/2, the corn market underwent a general sag, and then rallied somewhat.

Outs started at 1/4 decline to 3/4 advance July 4 1/2 to 4 1/4 and held near to the initial figures.

Provisions were weak in line with the hog market.

SOCIETY

One of the most unique affairs of the week was the masquerade party given by the members of the Craft Twig Club last evening at the hospitable home of Mrs. Eric Ferguson, on Hutchins street. The guests for the evening were the husbands and friends of the members, all of whom were attired in clever and comical costumes. Much merriment was occasioned by guessing the identity of the guests during the early part of the evening and bridge tables were arranged for later, which formed the diversion until a late hour, when prizes were awarded to Mrs. J. Leigh Watkins, Jr., and Mr. Forest Williams. A delectable lunch brought the delightful evening to a close.

At the monthly meeting of the "Little Theatre Movement," which will be held in the Girls' Community Club Rooms tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock a delightful musical program will be presented under the supervision of Miss Anna T. Cramer, who is chairman for the evening. Those taking part in the program include Mrs. James E. Breese, well-known vocalist, Mrs. Russell Becker, violinist, Mrs. Walter H. Gableman, and Mrs. Ernest P. Kelley, readers. All members of the "Little Theatre Movement" are urged to attend the meeting, which promises to be very interesting and enjoyable.

Men's Banquet Great Success

The second annual banquet for the men of the First Baptist church and Bible school was held last evening in the basement of the parsonage at 6:30 o'clock. Elmer Fetter, church and Bible school chorister, sang "The Old Rugged Cross," the men joining in on the chorus, and prayer was offered by E. T. Bennett of Columbus, formerly of the First church of this city.

The Deacons of the church served the supper, but it was an evident fact that the men appreciated the cooking of the supper more than the serving, because they gave a vote of thanks to Pastor H. S. Tills and wife for preparing it.

The supper being served, Thomas D. Smith, superintendent of the Bible school, had each man pin a card in the lapel of his coat, announcing the short talk was given by E. T. Bennett of Columbus, in which he held the First Baptist church was to be congratulated on the fact that they have such a man as Rev. H. S. Tills to lead them.

Short talks were made by different members, which showed their interest and their willingness to do their best in the efforts of this campaign. A short talk was given by E. T. Bennett of Columbus, in which he held the First Baptist church was to be congratulated on the fact that they have such a man as Rev. H. S. Tills to lead them.

Mrs. Gilbert D. Waite was welcomed as a new member at the meeting of the Aco Club held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. Rea Selby, 1131 Twentieth street. Guests for the afternoon were Mrs. Luther T. Mader and Mrs. Walter Head of Hillsboro, Ohio. The members present included Mrs. Harwood Wilcox, Mrs. John Neudorfer, Mrs. James D. Williams, Mrs. Evan Williams, Miss Lena Hauck and the hostess. A few hours were devoted to the playing of bridge and at the close of the afternoon an appetizing salad course was served.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. John L. Neudorfer on Bald avenue, in two weeks.

The Shawnee Bridge Club will meet tomorrow afternoon at the home of Miss Mayne McQuinn on Fourth street.

Mr. Thomas D. Driscoll of Third street was called to Baltimore, Md., today by the serious illness of his father.

Mrs. Walter B. Smith and Mrs. Alan N. Jordan were joint hostesses to the members of the Clover Club Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Smith, 1649 Grant street. The only paper of the evening was given by Miss Alice Padan, whose subject was "Vocational Training of the Dog."

The remainder of the evening was spent socially, with a delicious refreshment course in conclusion. The next meeting will be with Mrs. E. H. Hammer, on Seventeenth street, with her sister, Miss Alice Padan, as the assistant hostess.

Miss Elizabeth Rawon of Chicago was a guest for the evening.

Bank Fire

A dump fire about 8:15 this morning called the firemen to Sixth street and Lawson Run in the East End, where someone had applied a match to rubbish thrown over the bank. Hazlebeck will insure you.

There is nothing that must end that should be greatly valued for its continuance. When one knows that this earthly life is transitory; that hours, days, months and years pass away, it matters not what hour, what day, what month, what year one dies. For it is given unto man once to die and after that the Judgment. The shortest life is long enough if it leads to a better, and the longest life is too short if it does not.

That's how Cinco became the choice of discriminating smokers in every city and town from seaboard to seaboard. It explains Cinco's great sales record—nearly a quarter of a billion last year. SO THE COURT HOLDS

The law is a queer thing. When it seems plainest it is most obscure.

Take this eternal prohibition amendment as a test case. When it went into effect and the treasury department, reinforced by a court decision, ruled that intoxicants could not be sold on American ships, even outside of the jurisdiction of the home government, that sounded reasonable enough, but here comes the United States supreme court and upsets the frame-work and seriously skatters the foundation at the same time. For this wise and final tribunal reaches the judgment that the jurisdiction of no government can run beyond its boundaries, and therefore there can be no prohibition of American vessels operating a bar and selling whatsoever sort of drinks: the navigators may please, once they have passed outside the three mile limit from our shores.

It's a blow to "the moral forces of the nation," dearly beloved brethren, and puts a little different cast on the sanctity of a statute, doesn't it?

There isn't much relief in the ruling that no ship will be allowed to bring liquor into our ports. Native ingenuity can circumvent that readily and incidentally add joy to the fleet of rum runners. A boat will be held outside the line to dump the liquor on when our ship comes sailing in with Old Glory fluttering gaily at their mast heads and will be there when she hoves in sight again with her prow pointed in the other direction. Yes, indeed, it will be there and so will a whole fleet, each one rum laden and each one claiming to hold a cargo until a ship comes back.

JUGGLING WITH WORDS

DEMOCRATS should not plume their feathers too much on Harding entering the league of nations, through the back door, the cellar door, or side door, nor even yet going down into it by the chimney.

As heretofore noted one Charles E. Hughes is the mouthpiece of the administration in this matter. The mouthpiece is diligently at work but there is a hint in what he says and does not say that may well cool the jubilation of the other side. Let it be a note that while Mr. Hughes orates volubly there is a loophole left in what he says. He talks about a court of international justice, not the court of international justice, as being a thing in which America should have a part. Now, there is all the difference in the world between a and the. A is a vague and indefinite, it is boundless generality, on the other hand the is definite and fixed, it means one certain thing with nothing else.

So there may be suspicion that Mr. Hughes is speaking indefinitely of a purpose. If the fight in the Republican party against any approval of the league or its works, threatens disaster to the administration, it can wiggle and wobble out by explaining it meant a new deal entirely, a court that would not have any connection in origin, design or operation with the league of nations; on the other hand if the party reacted favorably to what is really the projected Harding policy, why, then, of course, and to be sure, a wonderful piece of statesmanship would be evolved, a brilliant stroke in settling all the troubles of the world would be achieved.

It's a case, brethren, of yelling before the smoke screen is cleared away.

From now until the presidential election every little movement will have a meaning all its own.

New York-Day-By-Day

BY G. A. McNaught

NEW YORK, May 1.—Poets have sung of the "purple light" that precedes the dawn in Gotham. It enfolds the city on a clear day about an hour before the sun's rays pierce the night; lights up the heavens.

It has the ethereal coloring that Whistler would have loved. And there is a pink softness that seems to give warmth to the towering canyons of granite and steel. Poets have said they have done their best work during that magic hour. It has a subtle wisdom.

Up along the Hudson at Inspiration Point, when the "purple light" begins to spread, the lawn is dotted with canals. Painters are at work trying to catch the glory of the Palisades, the ripple of the Hudson, and the skyline that rises majestically to the south.

In the Bronx, the pavements are filled with old men who seem somehow to gain a sense of peace and content walking silently up and down, apparently lost in reverie.

At this hour, too, the lumbering Fifth Avenue buses are crowded on top with youthful hand-holders who are unabashed at the sly nods of pedestrians toward them.

It is the time when the entire city seems to relax in the pleasant mellow mood that is so different from the usual jangle and hurry.

There has never been an explanation of the atmospheric condition that produces the "purple light." Some say it comes from the Palisades which at twilight turn to the purple haze Washington Irving wrote so much about.

are white shirts. How the name was changed to Bronx I have been unable to learn, but I do know the residents there are by their pronunciation, slowly changing the name again to The Bronx.

In a Bronx variety hall recently the biggest laugh came when the comedian told his wife he had a dream that a man was running away with her.

"What did you say?" she asked. "Why run?" he replied.

The gossip weeklies have all carried a story that the famous dancing star of a musical comedy who recently married a motion picture actor is considering a separation. And, of course, the wise ones along Broadway are adjusting the "I told you so" look. It is true marriages along the Minto have a way of falling out quickly. Yet, at a theatrical dinner recently, it was discovered that 22 couples had been happily married for more than 20 years. This is indeed a higher average than can be found among the same number of couples out of the profession in New York. Divorce here is generally the cause for riotous celebration by the participants. And remains an object of just as much every dinner table. (Copyright 1923, By The McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)
